Tirupati Shree Balaji traces the story of Annamayya, reborn from the sword "Nandaka" of Lord Vishnu. After Annamayya grew up, the lord Venkateshwara took him to lord Chennakesava temples to understand the beauty of the lord. On reaching there, Annamayya forgot about the entire world and started singing a song that described the glory of the lord.

Even after reaching back home, Annamayya was unable to overcome his new found devotion for God. One day, on finding a few devotees chanting lord's name while going to Tirumala, he started following them and took a vow that he will starve till he saw the lord. He became unconscious on the way when Goddess Padmavathy took pity on him and fed him some "Prasad" after which he regained his strength. On reaching Tirumala, the doors automatically opened for him and the Lord gave darshan to Annamayya. After this incident, Annamayya and his entire family settled down at Tirumala and Annamayya started writing songs in the glory of the lord.

When King Salva Narasimharaya heard Annamayya at Tirumalamma, his queen requested the King to ask Annamayya to become a "Darbar" singer. Upon this refusal to do so, he was imprisoned and tortured till Lord Narsimha came to rescue him. Seeing this, the King also repented and become Annamayya's disciple. While singing the songs in full ecstasy Annamayya merged with the lord to become Nandaka Sword again, an adornment in the Lords hand.
